

Assistant Professor of English/English Literature
Tenure-Track
Ref # FAC10-005
Feinstein College of Arts & Sciences

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2009 and will continue until the position is filled.

Description and Responsibilities:

The Department of English Literature invites applications from individuals who can demonstrate a strong commitment to undergraduate education, a desire to assist the Department in sustaining and creating courses specifically in area literatures such as African, Asian, Canadian, Caribbean, Latin American, and South Pacific, and a willingness to teach in the University Core Curriculum Program.

Primary responsibilities include delivery of courses in global literatures, the Core Curriculum, and other English Literature courses as appropriate.

In general, all tenure-track RWU faculty must demonstrate effectiveness in the following four categories: 1) teaching; 2) academic advising and program development; 3) scholarly, professional and/or creative activities; and 4) institutional and/or community service.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in English Literature or Comparative Literature by September 2010, with a specialty in global literatures is required. Also required is evidence of successful teaching experience, along with a record of scholarly activity in global literatures, and background in teaching in Core Curriculum/General Education or interdisciplinary programs.

Candidates must also present evidence of an on-going program of scholarly/creative activity.
