

EDU 622 – Research-based Literacy Practices

This course ties the research to practice relative to the fundamental principles of reading and writing instruction and their processes. Current research will be surveyed in the following areas: a balanced literacy program; a literate environment; emergent literacy; literacy strategies; approaches to the teaching of reading; instructional materials; and informational assessments.

(3 Credits)