

EDU 634 – Assessment of Reading and Writing Difficulties

This course addresses the fundamental principles of instruction and assessment for learners with difficulties in reading and writing and will focus on assessment, evaluation and interventions. Topics will include observation techniques, the running record, portfolios, the administration and interpretation of individual and group tests, formal and informal assessment instruments, the development of individual informal instruments, and intervention strategies. Student will be required to work with two learners who have demonstrated difficulties in reading and writing: on child and one young adult.

(3 Credits)