

CAPITALIZE ON YOUR POTENTIAL

Intern in Washington, DC for a semester or a summer with the Washington Internship Institute

Experience Beyond--and in--the Classroom

- Four days a week, you will contribute to meaningful projects and tasks in professional settings like federal agencies, Congressional offices, embassies, businesses, and a variety of nonprofit and advocacy organizations.
- Internships available for most majors and fields.
- Take courses designed to enhance your internship experience and your future career.
- Spend your time exploring DC's landmarks and culture.

How It Works

- Apply online at wiidc.org
- Consult one-on-one with Washington Internship Institute staff to find internship hosts tailored to your interests and goals.
- Apply for internships, interview, and receive offers for internships.
- Come to the nation's capital!

Credits and Fees

- Earn Roger Williams University credits – up to 15 for a semester.
- Pay Roger Williams University tuition and housing fees.
- Federal financial aid applies, and additional financial aid is available from the Washington Internship Institute.

Visit wiidc.org for more information.