Policy on Stimulant Enhanced Beverages

In January of 2011 Roger Williams University developed a policy to prohibit the possession or consumption of stimulant-enhanced alcoholic beverages, including the brand Four Loko. This also includes products that combine beer or malt liquor with caffeine, guarana, taurine or other similar substances found in energy drinks, and drinks that have increased alcohol percentage by volume.